

I was very lucky to get to go to Camp Sherwood Forest last summer. I'm going to tell you about my experience at camp.

One of the things at camp I enjoyed was archery. When I did archery my favorite part was the competitions. In the competitions you would see who could get the most arrows on the target. This was my first time doing archery so I was excited!

Another thing I enjoyed was candle making. In candle making one of the things we did was make a wax hand. To make them, you would have to dip your hand in really cold water and put it into hot wax. You would dip your hand in the wax twelve times then you would have the instructor carefully pull of the wax. I was scared because I thought it might hurt but it turned out to be fun.

I'm going to tell you about how I felt being away from home that long. During the time I was there I felt a little homesick. I felt better when I opened my chest because there was a picture of my parents on it. One of the things that helped me feel better was that I had close friends there with me the whole time.

In closing, I'm so glad I decided to go to Camp Sherwood. From my experience, I'm definitely going back next year. I recommend the Sherwood Forest camp for people who have never been there. I recommend this because it is a good chance to have some fun and get active.

--Written by Avery Heiss

Image from Flickr: <https://www.flickr.com/photos/sherwoodforestfaire/19464019880/in/album-72157655395567679/>